The Officer who commanded the troops on the occasion reports: 'About an hour later in the day, Dr. Douglas, 2nd Battalion 24th Regiment, and the four privates referred to, gallantly manning the second gig, made their way through the surf almost to the shore, but finding their boat was half-filled with water, they retired. A second attempt made by Dr. Douglas and party proved successful, five of us being safely passed through the surf to the boats outside. A third and last trip got the whole of the party left on shore safe to the boats.' It is stated that Dr. Douglas accomplished these trips through the surf to the shore by no ordinary exertion. He stood in the bows of the boat, and worked her in an intrepid and seamanlike manner, cool to a degree, as if what he was then doing was an ordinary act of everyday life. The four privates behaved in an equally cool and collected manner, rowing through the roughest surf when the slightest hesitation or want of pluck on the part of any one of them would have been attended by the gravest results. It is reported that seventeen officers and men were thus saved from what must otherwise have been a fearful risk, if not certainty of death." [6] Captain G. E. Bayley, Captain A. B. Forman, Captain C. Gosling, and Captain R. Selous were each awarded the Silver Medal of the Royal Humane Society for their efforts in saving the persons on board the Warren Hastings (1,246 in all), which ran ashore on the Island of Reunion while transporting troops from the Cape of Good Hope to the Mauritius, on the 14th January 1897. All the passengers except two were saved. 2nd Lieutenant Forman, Captain Gosling, and Second Lieutenant Selous have also been awarded by the Committee of Lloyd's the Silver Medal of the Society for the same service.

[7] Major Beardmore was awarded the Bronze Medal of the Royal Humane Society for saving the life of a native labourer of R. E. D. at Masu during the Ashanti war of 1873 under the following circumstances:—The man had fallen into the river, which was in flood, and Major Beardmore, in rescuing him, was obliged, on account of the high banks, to land him on the opposite side of the river. At very great risk, he then had to drag and force him again into the river, and swim him across, to place him in safety, as the former side was then in the enemy's hands; otherwise he would have fallen into the Ashantis' hands.

[8] Major Bell was awarded the Bronze Medal of the Royal Humane Society for saving the life of an ayah who had fallen into the sea at Apollo Bunder, Bombay, on the 6th September 1895.

[9†] Captain Bickford was awarded the Bronze Medal of the Royal Humane Society for saving the life of Private Hamilton, of the Scots Greys, who was swept away by the current whilst crossing the Assegai River, South Africa, on the 26th February, 1901.

[10] Lieutenant Binny was awarded the Bronze Medal of the Royal Humane Society for an attempt to rescue a child who had fallen into the harbour at Weymouth on the 13th June 1897. Unfortunately his efforts were unsuccessful, and he had to be assisted out in an exhausted state.

[11] Lt.Colonel Bond was awarded the Bronze Medal of the Royal Humane Society for having, on the 14th August 1894, during some bridging operations on the Thames at Marlow, saved the life of a sapper who had fallen into the water and become helplessly entangled in the weeds.

[12] Lt.Colonel Brooke was awarded the Silver Medal of the Royal Humane Society for having, on 16th Feb. 1903, with the assistance of a Sepoy, saved three of a party of men, who, whilst cleaning out a well at Belanbeli, Somaliland, were overcome by the foul gas.

[13] Captain Brodie was awarded the Bronze Medal of the Royal Humane Society for having, on the 2nd November 1882, rescued Lieut. W. S. Kays, of the 60th Rifles, who had lost his horse while endeavouring to cross a lake near Ferozepore, and had become entangled in the weeds while weighed down with 150 rounds of cartridge.

[14] Major S. D. Browne was awarded the Bronze Medal of the Royal Humane Society for saving a native woman from drowning at Nynee Tal, India, on the 31st August 1885.

[135] Captain Wynyard was awarded the Bronze Medal of the Royal Humane Society for attempting to save a Swiss peasant in Lake Davos, Switzerland, on the 9th December 1893, when the lake was frozen over. Captain Wynyard nearly lost his own life in the attempt, and when rescued was insensible.

[136] Colonel Middleton was awarded the Silver Medal of the Royal Humane Society, when Lieut. and Adjutant 95 Highlanders for having, on the 28th November 1880, at Gibraltar, assisted to save Lieut J. H. Campbell, 95 Highlanders. The night was pitch dark and squally, with heavy rain, lightning and thunder.

[137] Colonel F. Stevenson was awarded the Bronze Medal of the Royal Humane Society for having on the 22nd January 1874 saved the lives of two lascars from drowning who were upset from a boat belonging to the Transport Asia, near Porebunder, India.

[138] Captain A. D. Strong received Bronze Medal for having, at Ghazra-Ghat, India, on 14th December 1905, rescued a native trooper who whilst in the stream watering his horse got out of his depth and was in great danger of drowning.

[139] Major McRea was awarded the Bronze Medal for having, whilst his command was crossing the river Vetwa, on 24th January 1906, saved from drowning one of his men who had got into difficulties in deep water.

[140] Lieut. H. C. Fox was awarded the Bronze Medal for having, on the 13th September 1906, plunged into the Niger river, in South Nigeria, to save a native boatman whose craft had capsized. The river being in flood and infested with crocodiles, this gallant act was performed at the greatest risk.

[141] Major Holman, Indian Army (16th Cavalry) was awarded the Bronze Medal for gallantly rescuing a drowning man from the River Aare, Thoune, Switzerland, on 22nd Sept. 1907. The river was in flood, and the rescue was only effected with great difficulty.

[142] Lieut. Thomson, Royal Engineers, was awarded the Bronze Medal for a gallant attempt on 7th Oct. 1906 to save Captain M. R. Elles, who had dived into the Gurges Canal at Rorkee, India, after his native servant, who had fallen in.

HART'S
ARMY GUIDE.

HART'S ARMY GUIDE.

INTRODUCTION.

IN the limited space at our disposal it is quite impossible to deal at length with the Regulations now in force respecting admission of gentlemen to the Army as commissioned officers. It is our endeavour, therefore, to give as much information as possible in a concise and convenient form, dealing with the principal elements and conditions of the service as are necessary to be understood by all those premeditating a military career. His Majesty's Government expends large sums annually upon the training of strong and healthy young gentlemen as officers in the British Army. Every opportunity of adding to his knowledge is given to the enthusiast, and every assistance rendered him in an endeavour to raise the physical and intellectual standing of the Army even from the high grade it has already achieved. There is no finer life than that of a British officer when his soul is in his work, and when his real and earnest objects in life are patriotism to his country, loyalty to his King, and the honour of his Regiment.

The Royal Military Academy, Woolwich, and the Royal Military College, Sandhurst, are maintained for the purpose of affording a special military education to candidates for commissions in the Royal Artillery, Royal Engineers, Cavalry, Infantry, and Army Service Corps. A candidate must be unmarried, and will not be accepted unless, in the opinion of the Army Council, he is in all respects suitable to hold a commission in the Army. The general course pursued in entering the Army is through either Woolwich or Sandhurst, or through the Militia or Imperial Yeomanry. We propose, therefore, to deal first with

THE ROYAL MILITARY ACADEMY.

Admission to the Academy as Cadets or King's Cadets is granted to successful candidates at an open competitive examination. The number of vacancies varies according to the requirements of the Service, and is usually published about three months before the examination.

The Dates of Admission are the Wednesday of the week in which 1st February or 15th September falls in each year.

The Limits of Age for admission to the Academy must be over 18 and under 19½ on the 1st June (Summer Examination) or 1st December (Winter Examination).

The Qualifying Examination is conducted by the Army Qualifying Board, and is held in London for Great Britain, and Dublin for Ireland. The fees are £2 for London and £3 for Dublin.

The Competitive Examination is conducted by the Civil Service Commissioners. These Examinations are held in London and other centres. The fees are £2 London and £3 for other centres.

No candidate may attend the Competitive Examination unless he hands to the Superintendent, on the first day of the examination, either—

A "Leaving" Certificate.

A "Qualifying" Certificate.

An "Exempting" Certificate.

A "Leaving" Certificate is granted by certain recognised schools only to candidates not less than 17 years of age. The subjects covered are divided into two classes :—Class I. : English, English History and Geography, Mathematics. Class II. : Science, French or German, Latin or Greek. Candidates must qualify in all subjects of Class I. and in any two of Class II.

A "Qualifying" Certificate is subject to same age limit and subjects of examination as a "leaving" certificate, but is issued by the Army Qualifying Board after examination as mentioned above. Applications to attend a qualifying examination should be addressed to the Secretary, Army Qualifying Board, care of University of London, South Kensington, S.W., and must reach him before 15th February and 15th August respectively.

An "Exempting" Certificate is one granted by the War Office to a candidate who has qualified for admission to the Royal Military Academy (or Royal Military College) at a competitive examination held under the Regulations in force up to and including June, 1905, or who has attained a similar standard in one of the following examinations, held by the C.S. Commission up to and including June, 1905 :—

Indian Forest Service.

Indian Police Service.

Junior Appointments in Supply and Accounting Departments of the Admiralty.

Junior Appointments in the Royal Ordnance Factories of the War Office.

Examinations are competitive, and are held half-yearly, commencing in June and November. Notice is duly given as to dates, and applications should be made for admission to the examinations to the Secretary, Civil Service Commission, Burlington Gardens, London, W. This form must be filled up in the candidate's own handwriting, and must be received by the Secretary of the Civil Service Commission not later than 1st April or 1st September respectively. Applications received after 15th May or 15th October are not accepted under any circumstances. If no acknowledgment of a form of application sent in be received by the applicant within four days he should at once write to the Secretary, as above. A candidate (other than a candidate for a Cavalry Cadetship or for the West India Regiment) may enter for both the Royal Military College and the Royal Military Academy at the same competitive examination, provided that he takes up the subjects as enumerated below, and states, before the examination, on a form supplied by the Civil Service Commissioners, whether he intends to compete—

(a) For the Royal Military Academy only.

(b) For the Royal Military College only.

(c) For both, the Royal Military Academy preferred.

(d) For both, the Royal Military College preferred.

(e) For a Cavalry Cadetship only, Royal Military College.

A candidate must make no change in his selection after the examination has begun.

A Birth Certificate must be produced by the candidate when called upon, or if that cannot be produced, a certificate of baptism or other proof.

The Subjects of the Examination and the maximum number of marks obtainable are as follows :—

Class I.	Marks.
English	2,000	Compulsory.
French or German	2,000

All the subjects of Class I. must be taken up. Only two of the subjects of Class II. may be taken up, and if one of these subjects be a modern language it must be different from the modern language selected in Class I.

250 marks will be allowed for Freehand Drawing if taken up by the candidate in addition to the subjects mentioned above. The highest total of marks will determine the candidate's place in the competitive list.

Medical Examination.—All successful candidates will be examined by a Medical Board in London, and no candidate will be accepted unless he be pronounced physically fit. The Board has power (a) to pass the candidate as fit; (b) to report the candidate as unfit, but suggest an operation for the cure of some defect and recommend re-examination after such operation, or, in the case of a candidate being slightly below the regulation height, chest girth, &c., to recommend his entry into the Academy conditionally to his having reached the standard before the end of the course; (c) to reject a candidate as physically unfit. Rejected candidates may present themselves for re-examination by an Appeal Board which assembles a few days later. Notice of appeal to be given within four days of the first examination, by the parent or guardian, to the Director-General, Army Medical Service, 68, Victoria Street, Westminster, S.W., accompanied by a fee of four guineas. The fee will be returned if the candidate is returned fit.

No relaxation of the eyesight test is ever allowed. The decision of the Appeal Board will, in all cases, be absolutely final.

Preliminary Medical Examination.—A candidate may, on making application to the Secretary, War Office, 68, Victoria Street, London, S.W., accompanied by a fee of two guineas, undergo a thorough Medical Examination before commencing his studies. Not more than two years must elapse between the date the candidate is examined and the date he competes. The decision of this Board is not binding, and carries no claim at the later examination. A preliminary medical examination is advised where any doubt of passing exists, as it may save expense and the mortification of rejection. By such an examination any serious physical disqualification would be revealed.

King's Cadets are appointed by the Secretary of State for War from the sons of officers of the Army, Navy, Marine, and permanent Colonial Military Forces or irregular troops, when acting with the regular forces in the field who have fallen in acton, or have died of wounds received in action, or of disease contracted on service abroad, and who have left their families in reduced circumstances. King's Cadets are granted an educational allowance of £40 a year, tenable between the ages of 13 and 18.

Sons of officers who have retired by the sale of their commissions or who have surrendered their half pay are ineligible for King's Cadetships.

King's Cadets must be successful in open competitive examination, and applications to attend the examination should be made as in the case of ordinary cadets.

If the candidate is the son of an officer in the Army, he must apply for a King's Cadetship to the Secretary, War Office; or to the Secretary of the Admiralty, if the son of an officer in the Navy or Royal Marines. The application should be accompanied by an extract from the register of candidate's birth.

Terms of Payment for cadets are regulated by the Royal Warrant for Pay, which is amended from time to time. The amount to be contributed on behalf of a cadet while at the Royal Military Academy, or Royal Military College, depends upon the position held by his father (whether living or deceased) as an officer in the Army or Navy, or private gentleman. The amount varies from £20 (or, in the case of a King's Cadet, nil) to £150 yearly, payable half-yearly in advance. For the guidance of candidates, full particulars as to terms of payment may be found in Articles 673 to 679 of the Royal Warrant for Pay.

Additional Payments are required on behalf of each cadet, other than a King's Cadet, on joining, towards covering the expense of uniform, books, library and recreation, &c., of £35, and at the commencement of the third term of residence a further sum of £15. Each cadet will be required to take with him the articles of clothing, of which he will receive notice, and which must afterwards be kept up at his own expense. He will also be required to pay the regulated contribution in advance, for each half-year of the time during which he remain under instruction.

Control of the Academy is under the Commandant, who will report to the Secretary, War Office, on all matters concerning the Academy. A Chief Instructor will act as second in command. The cadets will form a battalion, consisting of three companies, under strict superintendence of selected officers.

Rules and Regulations must be observed at all times. Cadets will be liable to rustication, or loss of place for misconduct. In more serious cases he may be removed or expelled. No expelled cadet can be admitted into the Naval, Military, Home, Colonial, or Indian Service. Unsatisfactory progress or moral or physical unfitness render a cadet liable to removal. Officers in uniform, and others known to be officers when not in uniform, Civilian Professors and Instructors must be saluted by the cadets.

No person belonging to the Academy must accept a present from a cadet or friend or relation of a cadet.

Standing orders must be observed for the proper conduct of the Academy.

The Course of Instruction is divided into four terms extended over two years. The Academy terms are :—

Spring Term.—From Wednesday of week in which 1st February fall to about 31st July, with about 10 days' vacation at Easter.

Autumn Term.—From Wednesday of week in which 15th September falls to about 23rd December.

Intermediate periods constitute vacations.

The subjects which form the ordinary course of studies during the two years are as follows :—Mathematics and Mechanics (Obligatory, Advanced, Voluntary) Artillery, Military, Engineering, Practical Geometry, Military Topography and Freehand Drawing, Military History and Tactics, Electricity and Magnetism Chemistry and Physics, French or German, Military Law and Interior Economy, Infantry Drill, Riding and Horsemanship, Gymnastics, Signalling, Workshops.

Only one language may be taken up, which must be that in which he possesses such proficiency as will enable him to benefit by the advanced instruction given to the class.

Examinations are held at the end of each year of resident or independent examiners, and at the end of each half year by the staff of the Academy. To qualify for promotion to a higher class a cadet must obtain three-fifths of the total number of marks allotted for examination and term work for the whole obligatory course of each term. To count marks in an obligatory subject a cadet must obtain at least two-fifths of the total marks allotted to that subjects In a voluntary subject the counting minimum is one-quarter of the marks allotted. To qualify for a commission, a cadet must be in the 4th class, and must obtain three-fifths of the marks allotted to the obligatory course of that class. Cadets who have completed their course in the 4th class will be gazetted to commissions as Second Lieutenants in Royal Artillery and Royal Engineers. A cadet obtaining four-fifths of the marks of the whole course will be recorded as having passed with honours.

A cadet failing to obtain the qualifying minimum of marks for any term will LOSE THAT TERM. If he fails at the next examination he WILL BE REMOVED FROM THE ACADEMY. Cases of loss of time through illness at examinations or protracted absence will be considered by the Commandant.

The following prizes will be awarded to the cadets securing the highest marks in each subject at the end of the course :—

The King's Medal, The Pollock Medal, The Tombs Memorial Scholarship, The Benson Memorial Prize, and The Armstrong Memorial Prize are also awarded to the cadets obtaining the highest marks in certain specified subjects.

At each final examination a sword is given, as a special reward, to the most deserving cadet of his term.

ROYAL MILITARY COLLEGE.

The Regulations respecting admission to the Royal Military College, Sandhurst, are practically the same as for the Royal Military Academy. In addition to King's Cadets there are appointed annually Honorary King's Cadets, King's Indian Cadets, and Honorary King's Indian Cadets. Full particulars as to King's Cadetships can be obtained from the Secretary, War Office, London ; or Secretary, Admiralty, London, if the candidate is the son of a Naval officer.

The Subjects forming the ordinary course of studies for the temporary two-term course are as follows :—Military Administration, Military Law, Military History, Strategy and Geography, Tactics, Military Engineering, Military Topography, Languages, Riding, Musketry, Gymnastics, Drill, and Signalling.

Cavalry Cadets are appointed to Commissions in British Cavalry only, on passing out of the College, and appointments remaining after the claims of the Cavalry Cadets are filled by order of merit.

Indian Commissions are offered to a certain number of Cadets of the Royal Military College. The remainder of the Cadets who have completed their course satisfactorily are eligible for commissions in the Infantry and Army Service Corps as vacancies occur, and are gazetted to regiments as second lieutenants in order of merit as far as possible.

Failure to obtain the qualifying minimum of marks by a Cadet means that he will lose that term. He will forfeit all claims to compete for appointment to the Indian Army, and if he fails at a subsequent examination he is removed from the College.

Prizes are awarded at the end of each final examination as follows :—

The " King's Medal " to the Cadet who passes out first on the list.

A prize for proficiency in each subject.

A sword, as a special reward to the most deserving Cadet of his term.

At the end of each autumn term the " Anson Memorial Sword " is given to the Cadet who passes out first.

COMMISSIONS TO OFFICERS OF MILITIA OR IMPERIAL YEOMANRY.

It should be noted that after October, 1906, only TWO Commissions in the Royal Artillery will be granted to officers of the Militia Artillery.

Commissions in the Regular Army are granted to such Officers of Militia or Imperial Yeomanry who are successful candidates at a competitive examination.

The Qualifications and Conditions are that the candidate must be unmarried ; his age must not be over 25 or less than 20 years ; he must have served two annual trainings with the unit to which he belongs ; he must have obtained a " leaving " or " qualifying " certificate, or have passed one of the examinations allowed by the War Office as exempting him (particulars from War Office) ; he must have been attached to a Regular unit for two months, and must produce certificates as to character, &c., from his Commanding Officer.

" Leaving " and " Qualifying " Certificates must be produced before a candidate is allowed to attend a competitive examination. The prospective candidate should obtain a copy of the conditions upon which " Leaving " and " Qualifying " certificates are granted, as they are very important.

Attachment to Regular Forces.—Candidates must be attached to a Regular unit for two consecutive months at any time after the completion of their first annual training. During that time he must be instructed in drill, discipline and interior economy, musketry, semaphore signalling, and practical tactics.

Competitive Examinations are held twice yearly in Aldershot, Dublin, London, Edinburgh, and Portsmouth. Candidates must send in their names to their Commanding Officer, who will obtain the necessary forms, which must then be sent to the War Office before the 15th February or the 15th August.

The Subjects of the examination are as follows:—(a) Military History and Strategy; (b) Tactics; (c) Military Engineering; (d) Military Topography; (e) Military Law; (f) Military Administration and Organisation. Candidates must obtain a qualifying minimum of ·4 of the marks on each paper, and ·5 of the aggregate.

Medical Examination. — Each successful candidate is medically examined by a Medical Board in London, and no candidate will be eligible unless he is pronounced physically fit for H.M. Service. No relaxation of the eyesight test is ever allowed. Candidates may appeal if not passed, and the decision of the appeal Board must be considered final. An appeal must be accompanied by a fee of Four Guineas, which is returned if the candidate is returned fit. A Preliminary Medical Examination is advised, for particulars of which see "Royal Military Academy" Medical Regulations above.

J. W. DORÉ.

COURT, NAVAL & MILITARY TAILOR.

The object of this firm is to supply absolutely the best materials and workmanship.

The demand of the present day is not for cheap clothing, but for carefully cut and well made garments at moderate prices. I do not attempt to compete with the low prices quoted by many firms, but to supply only the very best goods and to quote only such prices as will allow a fair margin of profit.

I feel assured that should you give me a trial order I shall secure your confidence and future orders.
